FROM THE DYING EMBERS OF THE PAST

EMERGES A NEW ERA . . .

Today; unique; diversified; complex. The simple contented pleasures of existence; gone? With progress comes inventions, moon launches, better education, 747's, work saving devices, inflation, campus unrest, pollution, drugs, war.

With progress comes also the hope for new solutions. Yet the knowledge of the past is mandatory for a brighter future. Lessons learned in the past are dusted off and revised for Now.

From the dying embers of the past emerges a new era . . .

Plantation High School copes with double session

The squeeze into the parking lot, lady bus drivers, moonlit mornings going to school, hot cafeteria lunches . . . Dad walked to school at sun-up carrying a metal lunch pail.

Cold floors in the gym, crowded bathrooms, wet benches, fire drills, gum in the water fountain . . . Never changing rituals.

Victory flag and marquis, pep tags, signs in the halls . . . Whatever happened to pep card cheering sections?

Long hours of building a float, Monday night meetings, planning the prom, pretzels from the 400's, The Colonels Journal, the Horse, the funky chicken . . . they used to groove on the Big Apple.

Hoarse throats, excitement after a touchdown, homecoming parade, Senior Work Day, homecoming corsages . . . traditions stemming from way back.

Three points for a record field goal, extra curricular parties, the crowning of the queen . . . pulling taffy, sock hops, chaperoned dates, Saturday matinee movies, and swinging on the porch were the big things back then.

Faculty and students work toward a brighter future

Late to school, hassels in the office, pink and blue passes, teachers yelling, I.B.M. cards, pledge to the flag . . . A whack on the knuckles proved to be quicker.

Dissecting frogs, language labs, sweating in P. E., aromas from Home Ec., book reports . . . Whatever happened to spelling bees?

Cramming for exams, sssh in the library, losing sleep over grades, issuing of report cards, honor roll . . . Whatever happened to milk bottle honor ribbons?

Assortment of special events satisfies many interests serves as catalyst for unification of students

Hurrying to get off the bus, pride, spirit, "We're number 1!", boy and girl of the month . . . being Sally Sweetheart was the honor back then.

The excitement of Calendar Girl and all of the picture taking, the perils of pinning on a corsage . . . candy and a bouquet of flowers, have you received any lately?

Campus fashions combine modes of yesterday and today

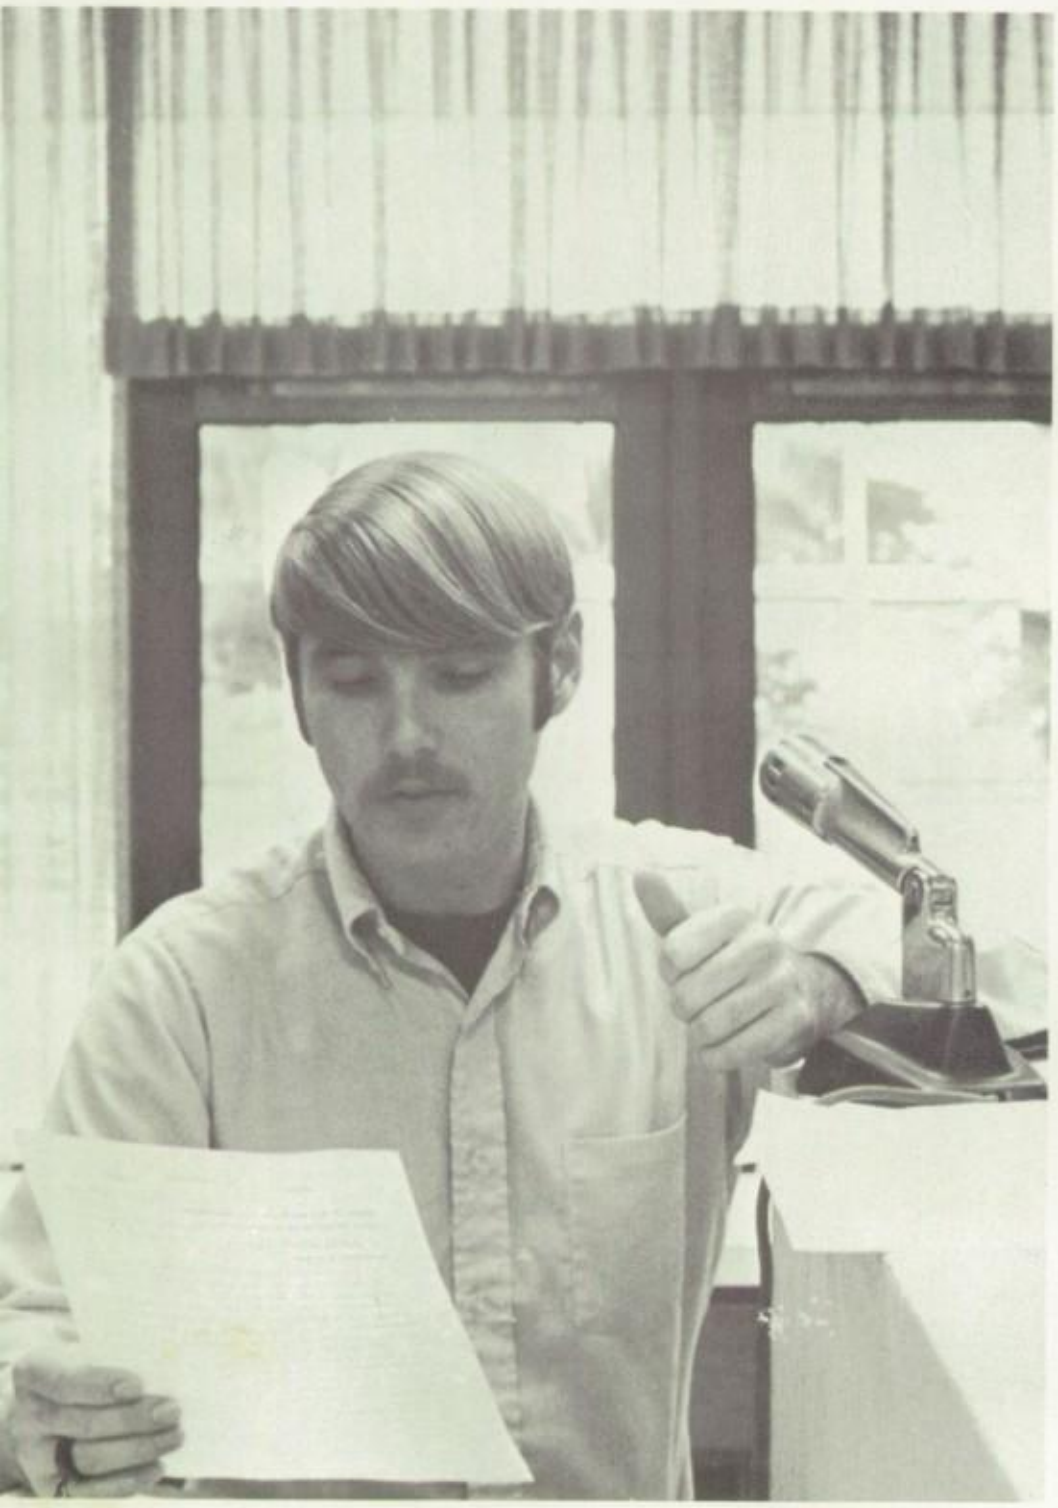
...o reinforce the theory that "history repeats itself"

Sideburns and long wavy hair, the Afro look . . . They used to have crew cuts and spit curls.

Women's Liberation, equal rights, bell bottoms, goucho pants, bikinis . . . Long johns used to be the thing.

Three Dog Night, Easy Rider, Butch Cassidy, M.A.S.H., Woodstock . . . Where did Laurel and Hardy go?

Leadership qualities evident on Plantation's campus



I.O.C. meetings, campaign speeches and signs, honor society inductions, newspaper editors . . . When did the old gossip columns disappear?

Valedictorian, treasurer report, minutes of the meeting, new business . . . Traditions that have survived through the years.

Pounding the gavel, Girl's and Boy's State, the deans' office . . . Remember the prestige of the dunce caps?

NEW DIMENSIONS IN EDUCATION MAKE OLD RED BRICK

A definite plan lurks beneath every organized activity. Learning processes fashion themselves in intricate designs, then swirl and blend in a warm contented undercurrent. In the past, the designs were less complicated; simple, basic designs of learning prevailed. But as progress spread and multiplied, new, more complex ideas added to and improved the simple ideas.

The thirst for knowledge has expanded. Education is mandatory in today's competitive world. The Education of yesterday, although it is sinking further and further into the background, is an important foundation for today's education. From the dying embers of the past emerges a new era . . .

The office of the principal, ably occupied by Mr. William E. Hanes, as come to be feared, respected and trusted by students, faculty and arents. For where does that power of authority and vitally important ne of communication between the student and administration come rom but that of the principal's office.

No one will underestimate the physical stamina a principal must ave in keeping the school in efficient running order and corralling 100 young men and women into a unified group. Mr. Hanes made laily rounds of various classes surveying the effect of the instructor's eaching methods and the physical conditions under which the student eceived his education.

A typical school day began with the untimely absence of fifteen nstructors, wandering students after the final homeroom gong had olled, and finally a 2:00 meeting with one of the school board nembers. Many times Mr. Hanes returned to oversee after-school ctivities as well. His day is never done.

erve as right-hand men, unifying two sessions at PHS

Have you got schedule problems? Or perhaps a "personality conflict" with a teacher? Well, these are the people to see, but of course, only if you can catch one. Galloping administrative assistants running hither and thither make it rather difficult, especially if you've only five minutes between classes, or a bus to catch at 12:07 and both men are at opposite ends of the school.

But when you finally do catch up with either Mr. Fuller or Mr. Laughton and you have half a breath left, you can explain your problem. Nine times out of ten they'll come up with a good solution and suddenly you'll realize, "They really are, All right guys!"

Suddenly, a thin freckle-faced boy rushes in and stands, panting, in front of Mrs. Bias' desk.

Mrs. Bias: (pleasant smile) "Yes?"
Student: "I'm in the wrong school!"
Mrs. Bias: "Well, you'd better see Mrs. Cooper about that."

Miss LaForest appears, carrying an armful of college catalogues, collides with Mr. Grosse as he enters the guidance office.

Mr. Grosse: "Oh, excuse me, uh, Miss LaForest?
Is that you?"
Miss LaForest: (muffled) "Yes. It's that time of year you know-SAT's, college applications . . . And with almost 700 seniors this year Mrs. Freeman and I are awfully busy."

Junior: "Is Mrs.Findley or Mr. Gardner here?"
Mrs. Bias: "Well, you might try the office across the hall."

Junior: "Uh, Mr. Gardner?"
Mr. Gardner: "Yes? Can I help you – sir? – son?"
Junior: "I need a schedule change. I got Home Ec. instead of Shop."
Mr. Gardner: "The miracles of computerized scheduling! We'll see what we can do. I'll put in a change for you but in the meantime I suggest that you sew diligently."

Mrs. Pratt: "Does anyone happen to know someone who speaks fluent Icelandic?"

The telephone breaks the anxious silence.

Mrs. Trickel: "Yes? Oh really? Great!" (She hangs up the phone) That was the school board calling."Our Icelander will be living in the Pompano district."

"Hola Isable, Bon Jour Jean . . . " These were words spoken in the foreign languages to help students understand such languages as French, Spanish, Latin and German. The department offered a five-year study of Spanish and French while German and Latin could be taken for four years.

In the classroom the teacher helped the student learn the correct pronunciation of words through the use of repetition drills. Foreign culture was also taught by contrasting different social groups. The language lab was used as a reinforcement mechanism of dialogues learned previously in the classroom.

Further study and understanding of the country and its people was exposed through the foreign language clubs.

INCREASED PARTICIPATION IN STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

The mind retains memories of the lighter side of life. Along with and running through the serious aspects of existence, humor, fun, and good times are interwoven. Realizing relief from tensions is essential.

Over the years, interests change with the fashions. New activities replace the old. But the old are not totally forgotten. Misty memories from the past become a part of the soul, and are necessary in the development of the mind. Times, fads, and interests change.

Yet, from the dying embers of the past emerges a new era . . .

School spirit displayed by enthusiastic participation

Berni Amici elected PHS Homecoming Queen for 1971

The Homecoming court walked out on the field and nervously awaited the judges' decision. The announcer introduced all the girls: Tonya Snyder, sophomore attendant, Barbie Barnes, junior attendant, Becky Loftin, Connie Pellillo, Linda Kunkel, and Berni Amici. The crowd suddenly calmed down to a rustling silence. "The 1971 Homecoming Queen is – Berni Amici!" The crowd roared in approval. Berni took her seat on the throne and rode around the field, smiling, waving, and crying.

One of the main highlights of the Homecoming Dance was a slow dance started out by Berni and her court. The group "In the Beginning" provided the music.

semi-formal dance featuring "In the Beginning"

This year's Homecoming Dance resulted a big success. Students from all classes, freshmen, sophomore, junior, and senior, came and made the dance fully worthwhile. When not dancing to the music provided by the band "In the Beginning", they were relaxing at tables that had been set up, or quenching their thirst with the punch that was being served.

This dance is one of the most elegant dances that occurs in our school.

Senior, Junior girls tie 7-7 in '71 Powder Puff Game

After weeks of hard practice, the senior and junior girls met each other in Interact's annual Powder Puff Game. The girls battled against each other resulting in a 7–7 tie. The senior coaches were Bob VanKirk, Tom Zipperly, Scottie McDaniel, Craig Smith, Bob Johnson, Charlie Gilbertson, John Coan, Randy Kidd, and Bill Stevens, all members of Interact. Junior coaches were Brad Ridgewell, Glenn Calloway, Danny Miller, John Gallagher, Tom Faverty, Otis Allen, Steve Berrard, Mike Evans, Steve Leach, and Head Coaches Phil Eason and Gary White.

Halftime activities were highlighted by performances by Interact "girls" and the crowning of the Powder Puff King, Charlie Gilbertson. His court consisted of seniors Scotty McDaniel, Tom Zipperly, and Bill Stevens, and juniors Tom Faverty and John Gallaghar.

Senior Week, including senior picnic, senior workday

This year, for the first time since the opening of Plantation High School, a Senior Week was held. The Class of '71 sponsored a week-long set of activities immediately after mid-term exams, Tuesday, January 26. On that day, seniors held a picnic at Birch State Park. Everyone brought their own food and free cokes were supplied by the class' treasury. Wednesday, January 27, was Senior Work Day, an annual event. Seniors did not have to attend school on that day if they worked and those who worked were required to turn in a minimum of $5.00. The money goes toward a scholarship fund. On Thursday, January 28, seniors were allowed to swap places with a teacher and instruct their classes for a day.

Once again, Twirp Week was held at PHS. This annual affair, sponsored by Juniorettes Service Club, is the one time the dating roles for boys and girls switch. Instead of the boys asking the girls out and paying for the date, the girls ask the boys and also pay. A week-long schedule of activities was held, highlighted by the Twirp Dance, held at the end of the week. On Tuesday, February 9, 1971 the girls bought jugs for their guys, with a "hands off" sign attached. The next day was designated as "vegetable corsage" day. On Thursday, the girls purchased helium balloons for their dates. Friday was the day for bringing a hat and a stuffed animal. The week was ended with a dance held on February 13, 1971 in the cafeteria with music by "The Krystal Ship".

Rapture surrounding prom night apparent during May

A.

A major highlight of the year for seniors was the traditional Senior Prom. During May, the Class of '71 held their prom and the rapture of a "night to remember" was everywhere. The site for the prom was the Oceanside Holiday Inn, and unlike previous years, after-prom activities were held in the same place. The formal dinner-dance was in the ballroom as an orchestra provided entertainment to the theme of "We've Only Just Begun". Candidates for prom queen were Linda Kunkel, Jean Standart, Connie Pellillo, Becky Loftin, Mary Belle Pfau, and Berni Amici. The after-prom activities included a variety of choices: a movie shown in the Ocean Theatre, a dance with music by a rock band, or a moonlit swim. The following morning, a breakfast was served in the banquet room.

The enthralling atmosphere that surrounds an important event was upon the Junior Class during May when they held their Junior Prom. The formal dance was held in the school's auditorium, with "Traces" as the theme. Candidates for prom queen were juniors Barbie Barnes, Glenda Baxter, Wendy Cohen, Sue Kulp, Beth Smoker, and Jill Thompson. The Paddlewheel Queen, an old-fashioned paddle-wheel boat was the site of the after-prom activities. Plantation High School Marching Band accents football

A.

The Varsity Marching Band completed a successful football season during fall. They provided wonderful entertainment for the fans every week at half-time shows and musical selections throughout the games. Along with the drill team, the band composed the major part of the cheering section. Without them, the pep rallies held this year would not have resulted as outstanding as they were.

The members of the band spent, besides the one class hour each day, countless hours of practice after school and in the evenings. As to their school spirit and enthusiasm, the door to the band room with the saying "Enter this room with spirit or not at all" best describes it.

The Junior Varsity Drill Team, sponsored by Mrs. Thomas, put on performances for the J.V. football and basketball games and the Varsity Homecoming parade and game. Shouts of joy change to stifled sobs as Colonettes

The Varsity Colonelettes, thoroughly engrossed in their team's fantastic football season, displayed many emotions, ranging from extreme elation to anguish, during the eleven games they attended. Along with the band, they livened up the pep rallies and encouraged the remainder of the crowd to cheer the team on to victory. Varsity Cheerleaders support Colonels with enthusiasm

The 1971 Varsity Cheerleaders do a lot of work behind the scenes that is relatively unknown to the student body. In the summer, they spent a week at the American Cheerleaders Association camp, preparing for the upcoming year of cheering. Besides attending football, basketball, baseball, cross-country, and track meets, they painted signs and presented the boys with surprises each week. They also decorated locker rooms and organized pep rallies and parades.

J.V. Cheerleaders support teams throughout school year

The Junior Varsity and Freshman Cheerleaders worked hard during the year to build up spirit and unity in the student body. They, along with the varsity squad, were sponsored by Mrs. S. Rogers and Mrs. B. Chinn. The J.V. squad was selected last spring and attended ACA camp during the summer. The freshman squad was picked in the fall. Although all the signs they painted and the pep rallies they organized were primarily for their respective teams, the overall effect was a large contribution of support and spirit for the varsity teams.

Staff of Colonels' Journal gains experience in newspaper

Interviews, typewriters, cameras, rulers, and light tables . . . all phases of newspaper work are evidenced in publishing the Colonels' Journal.

Journalism students at Plantation not only write their articles but they also prepare their own headlines and ads, lay out the dummies and paste up the page. Then the graphics department prepares the halftones and prints the final product by offset process.

The monthly publication was sold by subscription for the first time this year, since student fees were abolished. Special feature issues distributed for Christmas, Twirp Week, April Fool's Day and seniors.

The staff, composed of juniors and seniors, was led by Cathy Edwards, managing editor, and Jo-Ann McCloskey and Linda Neiderheiser, co-editors. Third-year members included Jody Kutchins, student adviser, Penny LaGasse, advertising manager, and Wendy Mann, business manager. Mrs. Charlene Martin served as faculty adviser.

Adults in Colonels' Club participate in PHS athletics

The Colonels' Club, a club consisting of parents or interested adults of students of PHS, made many important contributions to the high school. Last summer, they raised money for an extremely useful weight machine for the school. This machine is employed by all athletes the entire year. In late November, they sponsored their annual Colonels' Club Country Fair, which was a great success. During the football season, they sold Plantation High School pennants. These were in great demand and could be seen being waved at many football games. Meetings held during the year succeeded in getting many adults involved who previously were not. The officers for 1970-1971 were: Don Molitor, president, Bill Cutler, vice-president, Don Emrick, secretary, and Ralph Crawford, treasurer.

Pride, spirit, courage, give Colonels unified goal

1971 was an outstanding year for the Colonels. The team was ranked 4th in the state, the highest ranking ever achieved by any Colonel team. The Broward County Athletic Conference championship and the District 7 AA title were the results of a perfect 10-0 season.

The highlight of the season was the game with perennial power, Fort Lauderdale High. At stake were the conference and District titles, as both teams were undefeated. No one will forget the thrill and excitement of that night as the Colonels brought home a hard fought victory.

The play of the team and the enthusiasm of the student body will long be remembered.

Special awards were given out at the end of the year; they were as follows: Charlie Gilbertson best blocker; Bob Van Kirk, most improved; Randy Kidd, most skulls; Chip Brockman, most stars; Phil Eason, Siva; Craig Smith, most valuable player; Tom Zipperly, most deserving.

Plantation's varsity football squad had a lot to be proud of: nine all-county team players, a perfect 10-0 season, a first defeat over Dillard and a shot at the state championship title against Edison.

The Colonels went into the playoff game against Edison as marginal underdogs, as they had been in many regular season games.

The game was close all the way with few mistakes made by either team, as well over 10,000 people looked on. Edison scored first on a 15-yard run to make it 7-0. Shortly following, the Colonels were on the scoreboard as Craig Smith dove two yards for a touchdown and the extra point tied it 7-7.

Plantation held on until little time was left in the game when an Edison fake punt broke loose for a touchdown as Edison went on to win 14-7 over the BCAC title holder, Plantation High School.

The team elected Kelly Hughes; a hard running fullback, as the most valuable player. His consistent performance was evident all throughout the year. Bobby Cusick and Don Emerick were elected team captains. The leadership of these two was encouraging to the team during the entire season.

The Colonels went unmentioned in the pre-season picks as a tough team to beat. However the Colonels had but one blemish on their season record. It was one loss to Stranahan against seven wins in dual competition.

By the time the Colonels had met Lauderdale's team in the "Flying L" Invitational, they had begun to put it all together. One week later, they entered the Broward County Conference meet and placed second.

A.

Student Council had an enormous job this year in unifying a student body of over 4,000. Its objectives: organizing and initiating student activities, serving as a communications link between student and faculty and the promotion of leadership and good citizenship through various planned activities such as Americanism Week, Homecoming, "Gay 90's" Week, Peace Corps Partnership School Program and Student Exchange Program. The primary and foremost money-making project proved a success with the raising of $800. Led by Jim Jamieson, the year concluded with the general feeling of worthwhile accomplishment and a better understanding of oneself. Chris Stevens, vice president; Cathy Edwards, secretary; and Lisa Taylor, treasurer; made up the rest of the council.

Honor Society assits in College Day, bottle ring booth

In upholding their ideals of service, leadership, scholarship, and citizenship, the members of National Honor Society participated in many projects this year.

The members contributed much time and effort to their service projects, such as helping Miss LaForest with College Day and the "bottle ring" booth in the Colonel's Club fair.

Honor Society was a selective group for which the teachers voted. All students had a 3.4 average or better. Inductions for new members took place after the second semester. Their meetings were held every six weeks to collect semester dues, check report cards and discuss business.

The "smell of greasepaint and the roar of the crowd" ably identified one group, directed by Mrs. Helen Fishback. A great deal of time, effort and thought was put into the production, "Born Yesterday," given April 30 and May 1. For many of the students who took part, the play became the major event and actually transformed those shy and quiet people who once worked behind the scenes.

The Thespians put their creativity to work and accepted the tremendous challenge of producing a play whose plot and style kept them "rolling in the aisles."

It's 12:05 and that empty pit of your stomach is growing . . . louder . . . and louder! Suddenly a student appears, hauling a cart of those warm giant sized pretzels.

DECA has managed to save hundreds of students from near starvation, by selling pretzels during the break between sessions. A new club this year, DECA had many other fund-raising and service projects, such as their T-shirt and Christmas candle sales.

DECA Club also organized and managed a student employment agency within the school. Early this year students completed personal job information cards which DECA kept on file. All inquiries from businesses seeking student employees were channeled to DECA and the appropriate cards were sent to that particular business.

Distributive Education Club's of America, a national organization, is a co-curricular activity of a marketing class with four major objectives: to develop leadership, vocational competency, social intelligence, and civil consciousness. Under the guidance of Mrs. Hamill, Distributive Education students prospered as a newly organized club as well as achieving personal satisfaction in vocational training.

Have you ever run into 60 cubic feet, 200 pounds of boy carrying a box full of "polyfluffs"? Or pass someone with a pink snake around his neck and a panda bear under his arm and wonder what was happening? Well, don't worry. It's just the annual invasion of those plastisized cuties led by Civitan, a boy's service club.

Civitan held many service projects this year. They held Christmas and Easter parties for Head Start and raised money for Muscular Dystrophy. President, Roger Dean, led the club's float to first place in the Homecoming parade.

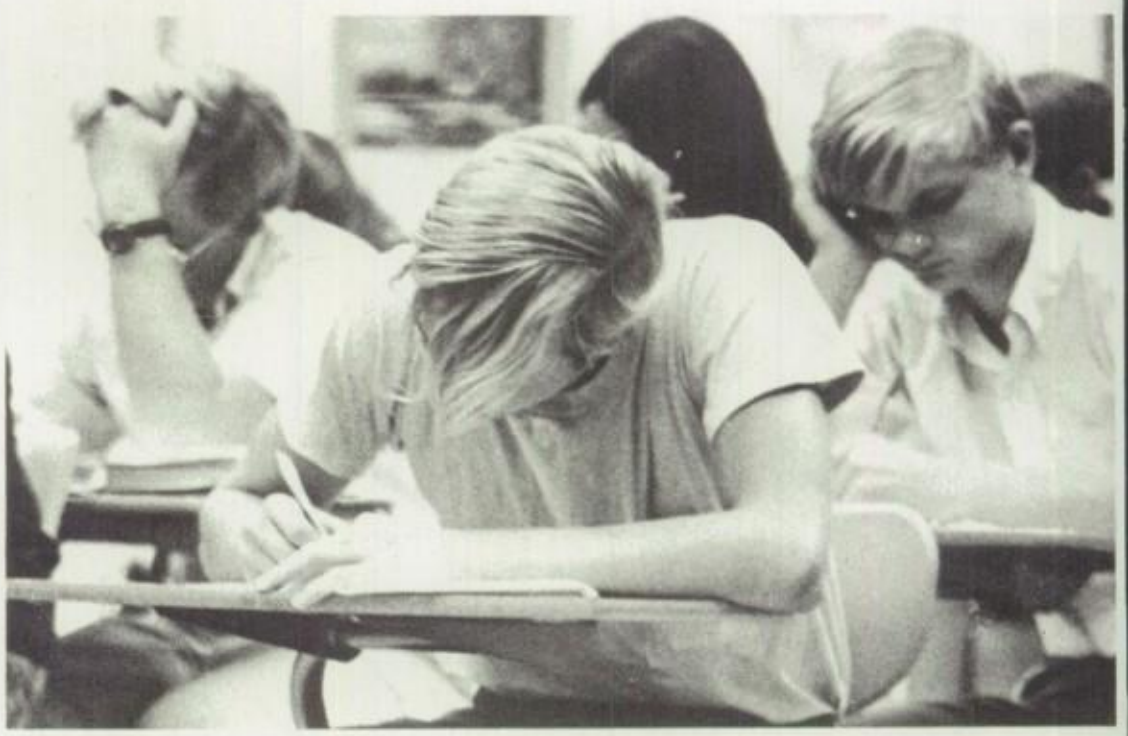
UNDERCLASSMEN PROGRESSIVELY BECOME MORE INVOLVED

The population of the world expands in multiples of yesterday. Soft right harmony and low undertones relieve the crashing dissonance of daily routine. Relationships evolve into deep, significant experiences.

All over the world young people are getting together and uniting for a cause. "Peace" is becoming a universal chant.

On the educational level, the students of today learn from happenings of yesterday to become leaders of tomorrow. From the dying embers of the past emerges a new era . . .

S SENIORS LOOK AHEAD TO NEW HORIZONS



Juniors

Class officers accept responsibility of financing Junior and Anyone for Life, Look, or Redbook? That seemed to be all you would hear around school as the Junior Class sold $4,600 worth of magazine subscriptions. The profit, almost $2,000, will be used primarily for next year's Senior Prom.

The Class of '72 has had many great expectations this year. They started the year out by winning first place in the Homecoming Interest Club float competition.

The Junior Prom was held in May with after activities on the Paddlewheel Queen.

The Class of '72 will be the first and only class having attended Plantation since seventh grade in the new building.

Through hard work and prosperity the Junior Class looks forward to their graduating year.

o prepare Sophomore Class for achievements in future

phomore officers include Debbie VanGilder, Sue Cunningham, Bob Cherry, Mary ndley.

Ten years of school down, two to go. You know it all, right? Wrong. The next two years will set the course for the distant future.

Questions like, "Should I go to college?", "What about the Army?", and "Is getting a job the right thing?" will haunt minds in search for an answer.

But excitement will abound in the whirl of social activities which increase as the sophomores look forward to varsity squads, proms, and finally graduation. And to think, only two years of high school right around the corner.

Creative Freshmen class leaders take on challenge of

Can four girls really run the Freshman class? Well, they have proved it by meeting their goal — service to others.

To liven up the Plantation Police Department, the Freshmen donated Christmas decorations and a tree.

The Freshman officers collected money from members of their class to purchase gifts for a 14-year-old girl with cerebral palsey. Members of the Ways and Means committee along with the officers purchased and presented the gifts.

With the help of their fellow classmates, four girls can run the Freshman class.

Class Officers Help

Twelve years have passed, and both the times and the class of '71, have been constantly changing. During this time seniors have grown mentally, emotionally, and spiritually, continuously progressing toward adulthood. Their goals now seem hazy and undefined, but as they approach their goals, the future becomes increasingly clear. Memories of football games, senior prom, Senior Placement Tests, and graduation, will always carry them back into the days of high school excitement. Although the senior year represents the end of many feelings and experiences; it also starts the beginning of a new life.

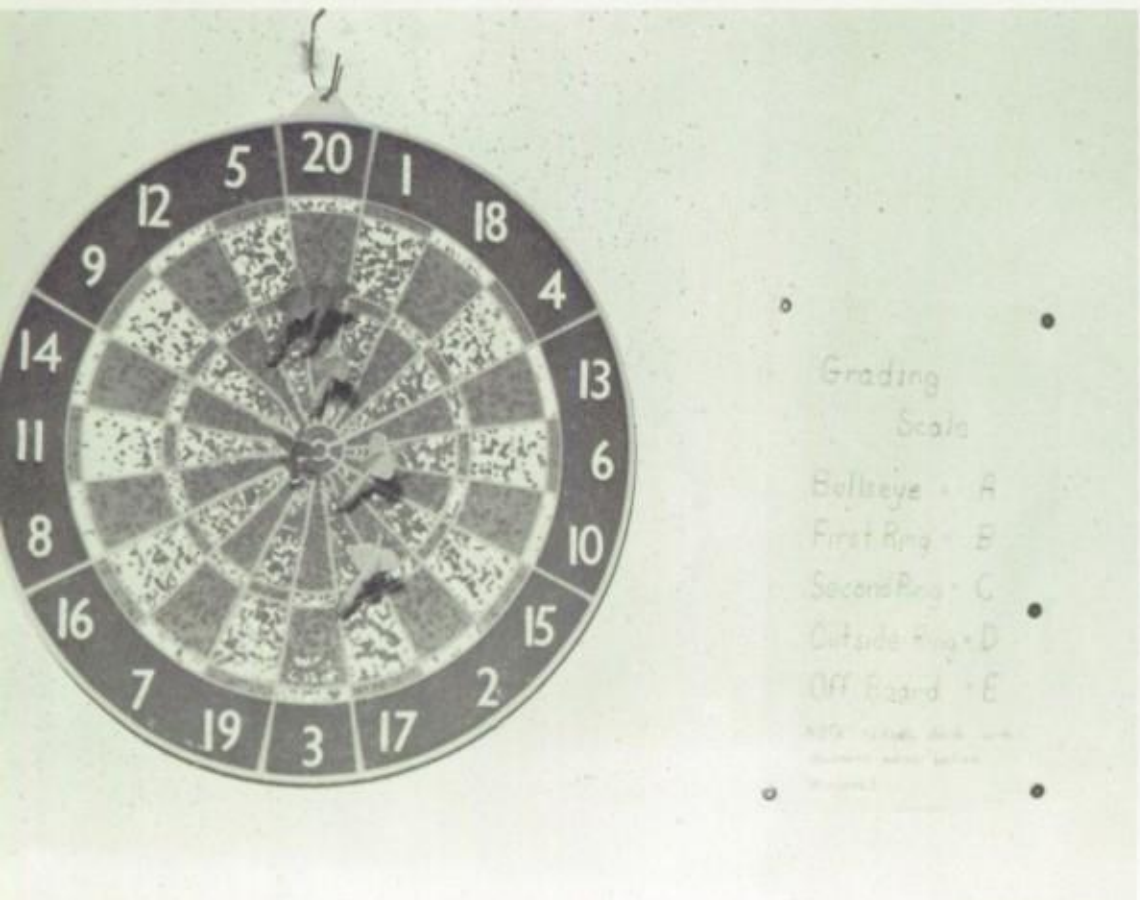
The Social Studies faculty pioneered an effective grading system?



Sixty-one seniors received gold cords to wear at graduation. Scholarship was the basis for the selection. A cumulative scholastic average was taken to determine the recipients. The gold cords were given out and worn with the cap and gown during commencement exercises June 8, in War Memorial Auditorium.

Of the sixty-one, two were chosen for the best scholastic averages. The valedictorian, Mike Grossman, maintained the best average, the salutatorian, Don Manis, the second best. Both of these students made individual speeches before the actual distribution of diplomas took place.

The other students pictured on this page are the top ten students in the Senior Class, excluding, of course, the valedictorian and salutatorian.

Besides compiling a season record of 10–0, capturing the title of BCAC (Broward County Athletic Conference) champions, being the number one team in District AA, and number four in the entire state, the PHS varsity football team also earned many individual awards.

At the conclusion of the football season, coaches of the District AA teams voted on an All-Conference team, a squad comprised of players of the 7AA teams who the coaches felt did the best job in their playing position.

Along with this team, two other teams called All-County, were chosen. Both the Miami Herald and the Fort Lauderdale News each selected a District 7AA football squad made up of those whom they felt did an outstanding job.

...positions; other trophies, awards given out at banquet

E

Then, an All-Region Team, a team composed of players from both District 7AA and District 8AA teams, was chosen for Region 4AA.

Finally 24 players are selected from the entire state as members of the All-State football team.

Velda Farms also presented an award to Charlie Gilbertson as Best Blocker of the Year for the county.

Because they earned a reward for their 10–0 record, the Colonels were given a banquet unlike those of previous years. The site was an elegant hotel of Ft. Lauderdale beach. At this banquet, the individual awards, Most Valuable Player, Most Deserving, Siva, Most Skulls (outstanding defense) and Most Stars (outstanding offense) were presented. Besides these few individual awards, a white letter, symbolizing a championship team, was awarded to each member of the number one team.

Students at PHS chosen for various awards during year

Various awards are presented each year to outstanding high school students. Many of these are based on citizenship, contributions to the school and community, and leadership. These are the DAR awards, presented to a senior girl, the Elks' club award, presented to a boy or girl in the upper 5% of his class, and the Velda Farms award, given to a boy and girl for their outstanding achievements. The Betty Crocker Award and the National Merit Finalists are selected by the outcome of exams. Boy's State and Girl's State, an annual affair sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, allows students to spend a week in the state's capital participating in a mock government. Students from all around Florida participate and two boys and two girls, (one of them this year was Mary Pfau), are chosen to represent Florida in Boy's Nation and Girl's Nation in Washington, D.C. Junior Chris Stephens also won a great honor as he placed first among 19,000 contestants in the "Voice of Democracy" speech contest.

...ringing honor to themselves, Plantation High School

Several students received individual awards during the 1970-71 school year. Awards were given for scholarship, leadership, service, special talents, and outstanding achievements in physical sports. The chorus and band received outstanding ratings in district contest, and went on to compete in state competition. Governmental appointments, oratorical honors, art awards, and secretarial scholarships are included in the list of honors given to Plantation students. Thus, the student body of Plantation High breeds a wide range of talent, recognized on a local and national scale.

A. Senior Hugh Trees broke four school records while he was in competition in Atlanta; and placed eighth in the Southeastern United States in the 200 yard freestyle. B. An essay by Martin Maxwell on Americanism was entered in a contest sponsored by the Sunrise Golf American Legion Post, and was called "the most outstanding essay in the county." C. An outstanding art student, Joe Fleece, received the Burdines 1971 Scholastic Art Award. D. The University of Miami School of Music awarded Rick Edwards a private oboe scholarship. E. Governor Reubin Askew appointed Jim Jamieson to the Broward County Narcotics Guidance Council for a four-year term. Jim was the only student appointed to this position. F. The Broward County Educational Secretaries Association awarded Diane Leggiero a $300 Scholarship for outstanding work in the academic secretarial field.

Each year it is a traditional project for Exchangettes to choose Boy of the Month and its brother club, Exchange chooses Girl of the Month. A boy and girl are chosen for each of the twelve months of the year. Both boys and girls must be seniors, and they must have contributed some sort of leadership or service to their school and/or community to receive the honor of "getting a month."

Jon Farley, Mary Pfau chosen Boy and Girl of the Year

Two Plantation seniors, Jon Farley and Mary Belle Pfau, share the coveted title of Boy and Girl of the Year. Miss Pfau served as the president of the Inter-Organizational Council which regulates all activities of service and interest clubs. Mary also received several leadership and citizenship awards and was president of Anchor Club.

Senior Class President Jon Farley served as vice president of Intramural sports. He also participated in track and cross-country events.

Boy and Girl of the Year are selected by Exchange and Exchangettes on the basis of leadership and service.

PAM & PENNY'S POP

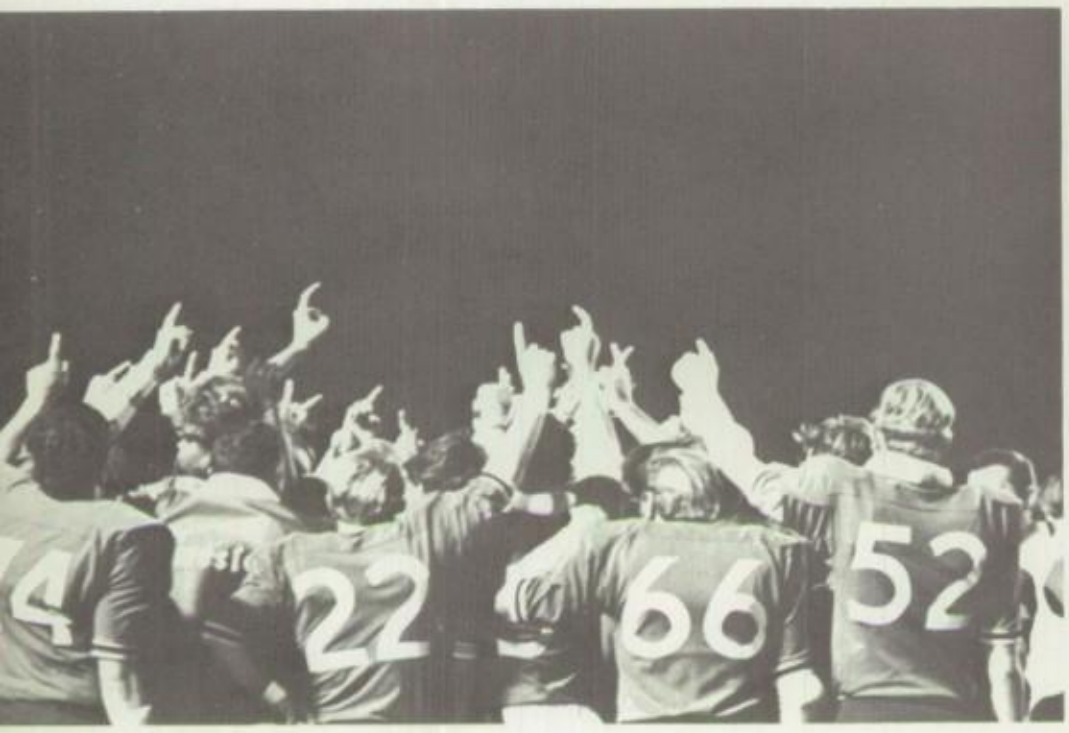
Final examinations, book fines, cleaning out lockers . . . The inevitable tradition of "wrapping up" the year.

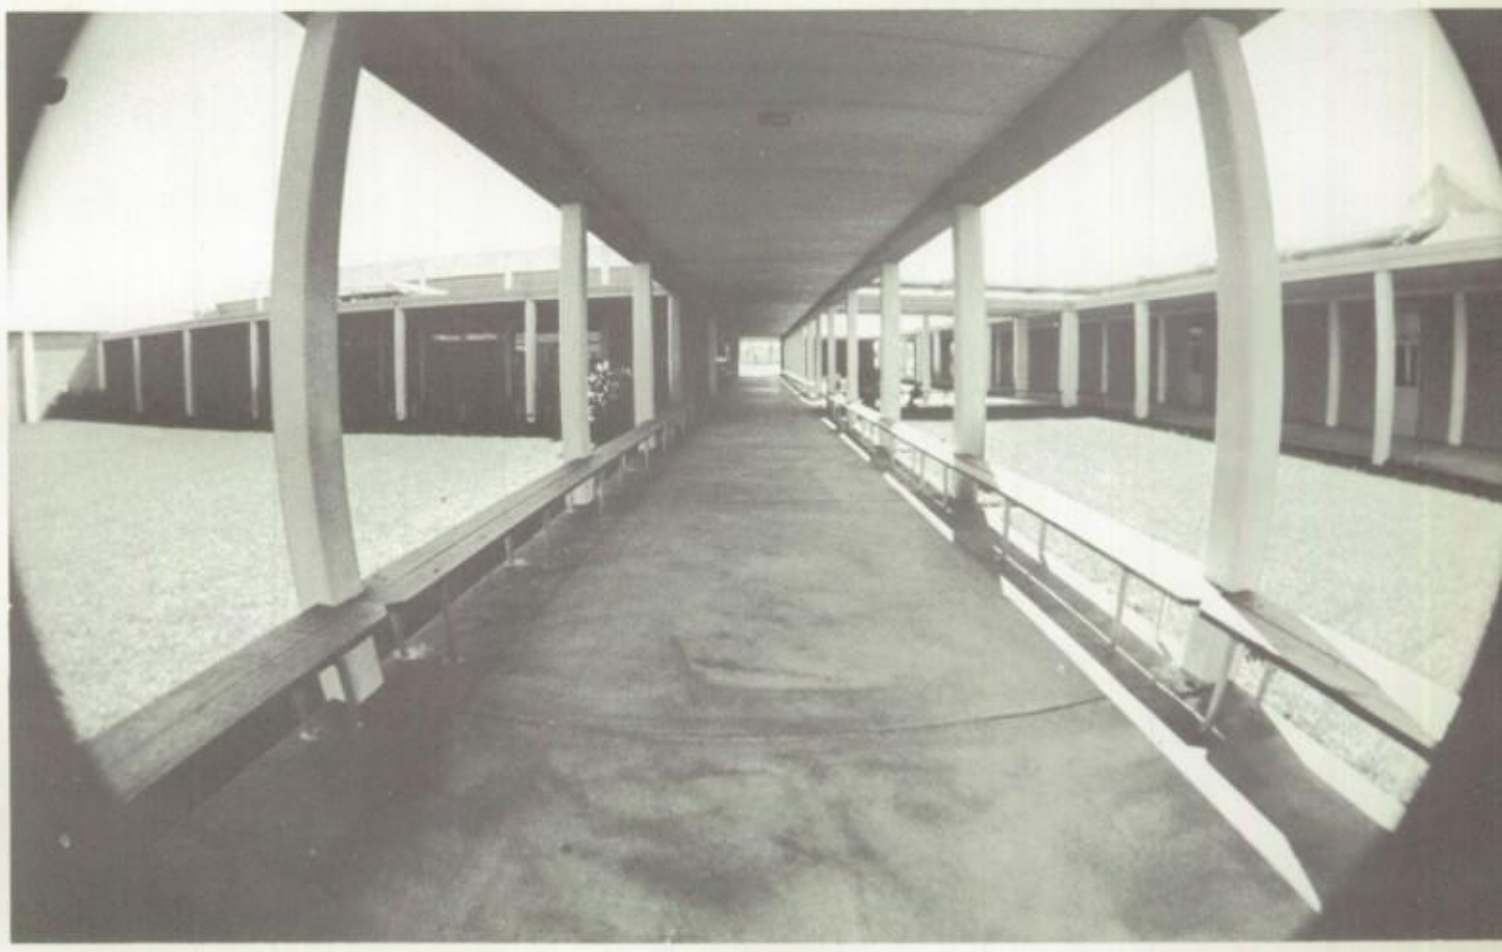
Preparing for graduation, signing yearbooks, surfing . . . Activities for now.

Plans for college, getting a summer job, thinking about "going steady" . . . Decisions influencing the future.

COLONELS!

Time passes so swiftly that infinite memories remain misty yet tangible; far away yet close. The chant "We're No. 1" echoes softly yet decisively in the corridors of the mind. The familiar melody of "We've only Just Begun" becomes a theme song for tomorrow.

Looking back brings a surge of warmth and content to be savored now and forever. Satisfaction with past accomplishments transforms into ambition for conquering new horizons.




The recent past is just another chapter in the history of generations. Will tomorrow be as rich and rewarding? From the dying embers of the past emerges a new era . . .
